As a pipeline operator who will be involved in the implementation of the new gas gathering regulations, it is important to understand the new regulations. This will be a unique opportunity for different stakeholders to come together and discuss their views on the new regulations and how to move forward with its implementation.

We hope you will join us in Oklahoma City in October for this one-of-a-kind pipeline workshop. The attendance is limited to 400 people, so to ensure a slot, the sooner you register the better. Please share this with others in your company or industry as you feel appropriate, and feel free to call us if you have any questions.
